Professional Experience

Travis Landes is a Vice President whose specialties include executing tailored, comprehensive leasing and marketing strategies for investors and owners of office real estate in Las Vegas, Nevada. He has over seven years of industry experience, with broad expertise in site selection, lease negotiations, buyer/seller representation, acquisitions and dispositions.

Travis has an exceptional track record of providing seamless real estate solutions that secure optimal results for his clients. Before starting his career in commercial real estate, Travis was a founding member of a highly successful electric sign company in Northern Nevada, allowing him a unique business owner perspective. Travis fully understands the challenges and priorities of local and national companies and utilizes real estate to help reach their goals. Travis combines his deep real estate knowledge with innovative strategies and strong client relationships to deliver value-added services for each project he is involved with.

Prior to joining CBRE, Travis served as a Vice President with Logic Commercial Real Estate, working on the Office Advisors Team. Travis focused on proactively preparing RFP submittals, proposal reviews, and financial modeling for his clients.
